

Customs and Supply Chain Services

Training

There has never been more of a focus on the Supply Chain. Brexit is ensuring that this focus is going to require major adjustment to the current systems and processes we have all become accustomed to.

FTA Ireland have a wide prospectus of training and consultancy services to help companies prepare for future adjustment and to upskill all levels of employees to prepare for the inevitable change.

It is very important for businesses to work with all links in the supply chain and our services are designed to aid this process.

Why choose FTA Ireland's training courses?

- Return on investment - through quality training delivered by industry leading professionals
- Flexible, tailored training solutions - to suit your location, business type or size
- Peace of mind - that the information provided reflects the very latest legislation and industry developments
- Public or In-House Training
- Subject Matter experts
